DETAILED ACTION

1. The appeal brief filed September 26, 2005 is entered and claims 49-75 are pending.

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

2. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Gary Jarosik on February 24, 2006.

Amend the claims as follows:

please cancel claims 73-75 without prejudice.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 49-72 are allowed.
4. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: the claimed invention is directed to a remote control operable with the consumer electronic device.

Independent claim 49 identifies a uniquely distinct feature "means for repeating the stored sequence of activations of the keys to thereby cause a retransmission to the consumer electronic device of command codes corresponding to those activations of the keys that are within the stored sequence”.

Independent claim 52 identifies a uniquely distinct feature “means for executing at least a subset of the sequence of activations of the keys to thereby cause a retransmission to the consumer electronic device of command codes corresponding to those activations of the keys that are within the subset”.

Independent claim 57 identifies a uniquely distinct feature “allowing a user to execute at least a subset of the stored sequence of activations of the keys to thereby cause a retransmission to the consumer electronic device of command codes corresponding to those activations of the keys that are within the subset to command the consumer electronic device to navigate the secondary material of the digital Medium”.

The closest art, Croy et al. al. as discussed in the previous Office Action, either singularly or in combination, fails to anticipate or render obvious the above limitations obvious.

5. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled “Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance.”
